The 2014 trip to Namibia was a small group self drive tour that allowed us the opportunity to stop when and where needed for that special photograph. Malcolm also encouraged the start and finish times to get the best experience possible when photographing special feature, animals, and people.

The countryside of Namibia is a kaleidoscope of colours, stunning beauty and diversity. The drive up the Skeleton coast with its foreboding seascape and occasional wrecks would surprise you that anyone would want to sail in it. Accommodation was excellent considering the remoteness of the location with stunning views and great uncomplicated food. Some accommodation had waterholes nearby which enabled you to observe the wildlife and their activities at your own leisure. The people we met were friendly and quite photogenic. The wildlife experience throughout the journey was special but in Etosha National Park and Erindi Game Reserve at times you felt you could open the doors and let them pass through. An experience I will never forget.

Such an amazing holiday!! I tried to think of the highlights, which were Victoria Falls and Muchenje, but each had their own unique appeal and every day something exciting. The accommodation was very well thought out and fantastic!! Thanks for all your care and expertise. Everything went very smoothly due to your professionalism.

Spotlight on Africa

Spotlight on Africa is an offshoot of the Australian business Spotlight on Asia, specialising in travel photography and small group photographic tours. With over 45 years of photographic experience as well as extensive experience in customer service, operations and project management, Spotlight on Africa strives to provide photographic tours that are uniquely specialised yet affordable.

Having specialised in photographic tours to Asia since 2007, it was only a matter of time before Spotlight on Asia decided to expand into other geographic regions, with the first destination being Africa. After a hugely successful tour of Zimbabwe, Botswana, South Africa and Namibia in 2013, Spotlight on Africa was born, with the goal of leading further amazing tours in the future.

Unlike many other photographic tour companies, Spotlight on Africa designs the photographic tours from the ground up with photography in mind. This however does not mean you need to be a photographer to enjoy the tour. The tours appeal to photographers and non-photographers alike. Working with carefully selected local and international tour companies, the tour programs are designed to ensure that the very best photographic opportunities are on offer, but without neglecting all the other joys of travel, such as culture and cuisine.

Spotlight on Africa understands that there is much more to Africa than wildlife, and incorporates a variety of experiences in the tours, including landscapes, seascapes, night photography, people photography as well as the amazing wildlife. To ensure you get the very best photographic opportunities, Spotlight on Africa conducts extensive research on the destination, and then goes about designing a tour to encompass as many of the highlights as possible, whilst ensuring sufficient time at each. This ensures that everyone travelling to Namibia will return with not only amazing photographs, but more importantly, an amazing natural and cultural experience.

SPOTLIGHT ON AFRICA looks forward to travelling with you.

What an amazing experience we've had. I thoroughly enjoyed the company, the photography experience and also the physical challenges [for myself]. But the experience was unbelievable.

MARIAN P | AUSTRALIA

Thank you for such a great trip to Africa. We had a wonderful time.....I was quite apprehensive about going on game drives in open vehicles, but surprised myself as I actually felt very comfortable sitting right beside lions & cheetahs. However, I must admit that some elephants got a bit too close for my liking at times. All the organisation and accommodation throughout the trip was first class all the way.

Why travel with us?

When considering your next photographic adventure, please ensure you compare Apples with Apples. Many people book standard tours only to return disappointed because they had no flexibility, were at the wrong place at the wrong time and had little opportunity to do any serious photography. It's also important to note that not every photographic tour is made equal. Ensure you choose a reputable tour, not just a standard tour that has been re-badged as a photographic tour. Your photographic tours should be designed from the ground up with photography in mind, led by an experienced photographer offering guidance and photographic instruction, and most importantly, offer exceptional value for money.

When designing the photographic tours, Spotlight on Africa conducts extensive research to identify suitable shoot locations, and then goes about planning the logistics to suit. Tour routes will make the most of the opportunities and hotels will be conveniently located so that early morning shoots are nearby. The entire program is very much about the photography, so if you are seeking a 5 star luxury rest and relaxation tour, this is not the tour for you.

Spotlight on Africa tours are not only designed to deliver the very best photographic opportunities on offer, but also offer the opportunity to learn as you travel. Experienced photographers are more than welcome to go about their own photography as they see fit, but those requiring advice can be comforted in knowing that their photographic leader will be there with them every step of the way, inspiring and guiding them through the creative and technical aspects of photography. Being on a photographic tour with like-minded people also provides an opportunity for everyone to discuss and share their passion for photography.

Spotlight on Africa's tours however are not only about photography. Travel is very much about people and culture, and as such, we always endeavour to introduce people to different cultures, traditional shows and local cuisine. You are guaranteed to not only return with many amazing images, but also great memories.

Finally, Spotlight on Africa knows all too well that photographers are often charged premium prices for photographic tours. By definition a photographic tour is a specialised tour, but that does not necessarily mean services are double in price. In some instances you're paying for one or more high profile photographers to lead the tour, but in most cases, you are blatantly being over charged for something that offers little more than a standard tour sold at half the price. It is Spotlight on Africa's business philosophy to continually offer affordable photographic tours with inclusions that are second to none.

Who travels with us?

There is no greater joy than travelling with people sharing a common interest, and once you understand the value of travelling on a dedicated photographic tour, you will most likely return for more photographic adventures. Approximately 50% of travellers are repeat clients, with many intending to travel on further tours well into the future.

Two of the most common questions received by interested travellers are “Do I need to be a good photographer to join the tour” or “Is my camera good enough?” The tours accommodate photographers of all standards, from beginners with small compact cameras, to professional photographers with advanced camera systems with a variety of lenses. As long as you enjoy taking photographs, and wish to be presented the very best photographic opportunities, you will feel at home travelling on any of the tour. The only prerequisite is that you have a basic understanding of operating your camera.

In actual fact, the photographic tours appeal to photographers and non-photographers alike, with many enthusiast photographers bringing their non-photographic partners. If they have appreciation for seeing a country, experiencing a culture and trying things not offered on standard tours, they will still have a great time. The only requirement of travelling is that they will need to exercise some patience. Whilst photographers enjoy their photography, non-photographers are more than welcome to venture off and explore on their own, or even better, be swept up in the photographic passion and learn the art of photography. Some non-photographic clients on past tours have thoroughly enjoyed the experience, and soon after invested in photographic equipment in preparation for their next photographic tour.

The tours will appeal to people of all ages and experience. Most tours consist of travellers between 50 and 70 years of age, but have also accommodated as young as 20 and as old as 90 years of age. As long as those choosing to travel on the tour are physically fit, they are more than welcome to join.

The important thing to remember is that your photographic expertise should never be the deciding factor in joining a tour. We are happy to accommodate any standard of photographer, and look forward to not only presenting the very best photographic opportunities but also assisting you in taking amazing images.

Just to let you know that Sandy and I so much enjoyed the Namibia tour with you in May/June. We were delighted with the balance between wildlife, people, architectural, derelict and scape photo opportunities that you scheduled in. The unique arranged shoots in the Dhimba and Himba tribal villages were a particular stand-out as was the night and dawn shoot of the quiver tree forest.....in fact come to think of it every day was a stand-out! This is the third tour we've done with you; your knack of finding excellent opportunities away from the crowds and flexibility with the schedules to maximize the group experience and capture unique shots on the paths less trodden is a guarantee that we will be traveling again with you. Many thanks for a great trip Malcolm.

Just a small note to say "thank You" for taking us on such a wonderful trip across Southern Africa- Namibia, and introducing us to such exciting scenery. So different to here in Australia and the tribes living in their own environment. Each and every day we were rewarded with great photo opportunities. The choice of hotels and lodges superb.
